A FAIR CONTEST FOR ONE AND ALL

During just four super scheduled days in June, over 100,000 people are expected to visit Fort Mason Center to take part in the San Francisco Fair and Exposition. Entering its third year, the San Francisco Fair and Exposition has already attained the status of that most rare of phenomena—the instant classic. The San Francisco Fair is a witty blend of traditional American pastimes, San Francisco's own celebrated cosmopolitan sophistication and the high-spirited high-jinks of a local County Fair. Contributing in no small way to the festive atmosphere is the broad array of 1984 Fair contests. Several Fort Mason Center resident groups have entered into the spirit of summer celebration by co-sponsoring contests for this year's Fair.

The Fair, the colorful contests, Fort Mason's scenic locale and the thousands of Fair faces will present many striking photo opportunities. You can share your "Fort Mason Experience" by entering the photo contest co-sponsored by the Fort Mason Center Foundation and the North Beach Photographic Art Fair. Either black and white or color photos may be submitted, but only photographs taken at the San Francisco Fair at Fort Mason are eligible. The winning photos will be prominently displayed in several locations; you may well see one of your photos here in the pages of the Calendar.

Magic Theatre and People's Theater Coalition are co-sponsoring (in association with Theatre Communications Center of the Bay Area) a San Francisco Characters Monologue Contest. The competing monologues, serious or comic, must depict a character unique to San Francisco, must run from three to five minutes and must be either authored or co-authored by the performer.

This year's Sweet Potato Pie contest is co-sponsored by the African-Amer. Historical & Cultural Society.

Children and teenagers of a theatrical bent will enjoy participating in the monologue contest co-sponsored by the Academy of Media and Theatre Arts (AMATA). Each monologue must be an original piece, authored by the performer, on the theme of "What The World Holds For Me." The two-minute monologues will be judged on the basis of acting ability and the quality of the writing.

Performance artists and professional performers may find themselves drawn to the "Living Sculpture" competition. The co-sponsors, Tamalpa Institute/Dancers' Workshop and City Celebration, are looking for kinetic or static Living Sculptures performed individually or by a group. Movement, music, props, costumes and the spoken word are permissible elements; the time limit is three minutes.

If your creativity finds an outlet in the culinary arts, perhaps one of the Baked Goods and Desserts Contests is for you. The African-American Historical and Cultural Society and the Bayview-Hunter's Point Senior Citizens Multipurpose Center are co-sponsoring a Sweet Potato Pie Contest.

Poetry Film Workshop and Poets for Peace are looking for more than a few good poets who want to "Give Peace A Chance." Poems on that theme will be read publicly by the finalists who will also have the pleasure of seeing their poems published in the summer issue of "Give Peace A Chance."

The San Francisco Fair and Exposition has already conducted a preliminary contest—the "Contest For A Contest." This year's winner is a Landlord/Tenant Tug-of-War, which is to be a good-natured struggle between local citizens. "The Quintessential 8-Hour Tour Of San Francisco" contest provides those of us who have a bit of the tour-guide in our make-up with the opportunity to create, on paper, the ultimate tour of the city. Returning from last year are those popular favorites, the "Fog Calling Contest" and the "Impossible Parking Space Race." San Francisco's Favorite Kite will be chosen; quilts and floral arrangements will be judged. For bakers and pie-makers there are contests galore; for mud-pie makers there's the "Great Sand Sculpture Contest."

If you find that you are Fair-minded about any Fair Game, you can pick up a copy of the official San Francisco Fair Contest Booklet on your next visit to Fort Mason Center or at the Fort Mason Downtown Information Center at 15 Columbus Avenue. The Contest Booklet contains the rules and entry blanks for all contests. The Fair will run from June 14 through 17, here at Fort Mason. We'll see you here, at the Fair (and don't forget that camera)!

WHO'S WHO AT THE FORT

Jean Taylor, New Dimensions

"There's a lot of stimulation at the Center—a constant bustle of activity, always something new happening. It seems to me more and more community activities are going to focus here.

"As for us, we're here because we wanted a facility that was inexpensive enough to keep the prices of our classes down—we wanted to make them affordable to working people, and to seniors who are on fixed incomes. Fort Mason is well located for clients who live in San Francisco, and on the way home for a lot of people who work in the City and live in Marin County."
